Distributive property

Samuel Dearman

July 5, 2025

Some entity is changable with another entity and a relation even though those entities already related to themselves.

In algebra, multiplication distributes over addition

$a(b + c) = ab + ac$

In this case $b + c$ is already related and we just put $a$ with relation $*$